Any such relationships will be disclosed to the audience and consideration will be given to possible influences of their presentations.

General Information

Overview

The regional symposium is designed to present cutting-edge data on recent advances in the diagnosis and management of hematological abnormalities. This program will cover updates on evolving therapies and the latest treatment options as reviewed at the American Society of Hematology (ASH®) 55th Annual Meeting and Exposition. The lecture will give physicians, pharmacists, nurses and other health professionals updates and new data from this important international oncology conference.

Planning Committee

The Medical Education Committee is sponsored by The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS), WPA/WV Chapter. This committee plans medical education lectures for oncologists, hematologists, oncology nurses and other oncology healthcare professionals.

Target Audience

The symposium is directed primarily toward medical oncologists and hematologists. Other physicians, pharmacists, nurses and healthcare professionals interested in the treatment of cancer are welcome to attend. LLS reserves the right to substitute speakers or times due to circumstances beyond its control. This is a knowledge-based activity.

Hotel and Parking Accomodations

Only self-parking in the indoor multi-level lot directly across from the hotel's main entrance is included in the registration fee. Bring parking ticket to the registration table for validation.
