ADVOCACY

The need for blood cancer advocacy has never been greater. Opportunities to advance cancer cures are more promising than ever and public support is critical. The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's office of public policy is charged with advancing LLS's mission through advocacy aimed at influencing public policies. We rely on the active involvement of volunteers to increase awareness of the needs of blood cancer patients among legislators at the federal and state levels. Please register to be a part of the Advocates Network today at <http://action.LLS.org>
