

in memory of alexis white

Leukemia did not prevent Alexis from loving the holidays. The winter holidays were Alexis' favorite time of year. She loved decorating her own tree, baking Christmas cookies, and hanging lights. But more than these, she really enjoyed giving gifts that meant something to her family and friends. So, for her very last Christmas, she gave to her mom, Patty an Ursula charm, for her favorite Disney character. Now Patty wears the bracelet in loving memory of her last Christmas with Alexis.

Alexis' generosity inspired the creation of Alexis' Angels

a holiday gift-giving program

In Cooperation with

what is alexis angels

Alexis' Angels is a holiday gift-giving program named in memory of Alexis White, a 15 year-old girl who lost her battle with leukemia. In honor of their daughter Alexis, the White family, their friends, and volunteers collect, wrap, and deliver holiday gifts to children with blood cancer and their families within Illinois.

Many families with children in treatment are struggling financially, especially during the holiday season.

When paying medical expenses, holiday gifts are not the first necessity for these families.

Alexis' Angels aims to help make their holidays memorable. Learn more at bit.ly/alexisangels

about LLS

The mission of The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society is to cure leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease and myeloma, and improve the quality of life of patients and their families.

Cancer is a heck of an opponent.

It's a bully. But we aren't afraid of a fight.
It's elusive. But our focus never fades.
It's deadly. But we are known cancer killers.

Since 1949, we've pioneered groundbreaking research that leads us to believe we will find the cures for cancer in our blood.

We were born to defeat this opponent.
We are The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society.

BEATING CANCER IS IN OUR BLOOD.
